Round Robin

1. The Round Robin Showmanship Contest gives an opportunity for the [supreme] champion showmen from the 4-H and FFA divisions in each species of large animals to compete head to head for best all-round showman honors at the fair. A supreme showman is either the 4-H or FFA member picked by the species judge as the best showman in that species. (one (1) contestant per species for a total of five (5) showman). There must be a minimum of five (5) head exhibited at the fair for that species to be included in the Round Robin Showmanship Contest. In this contest each contestant will be judged on their showmanship skills with each species of animal - Beef, Dairy, Hog, Sheep and Goats. If there are two (2) divisions in a species (i.e. meat goat and dairy goat) A single winner must be selected prior to the round robin to represent that species. The judges will use a numerical scoring system to grade each individual, in each species, with the ultimate winner determined by the total score over all species. In the event of a tie, the scores obtained by the affected individuals will be thrown out in the species they qualified in. If this does not break the tie, the judges will be consulted about additional tie-breakers.

WHO IS ELIGIBLE?

There is no limit on how many times a person may compete in the Round Robin Showmanship Contest over their career.

Exhibitors must receive a purple ribbon in showmanship to qualify for the Round Robin Showmanship Contest in a species. In the event the top qualifier in a species of animal has already been selected to compete in the Round Robin this year, (or if he/she declines to compete in the Round Robin) the next highest-ranking individual who meets eligibility requirements may compete instead. Each showman shall represent only one animal. If qualified with more than one species the exhibitor must choose which they will represent.

ANIMALS USED IN THE CONTEST

Contestants will not be allowed to show their own animal in this contest. Superintendents of the various species will select animals to be used in the contest with all showmen showing the same species in the ring at the same time.

AWARDS

Awards will be presented to the Champion Round Robin Showman, but no premium is paid for this event.
